A Puritan Love Story

CHARMINGLY TOLD IN AN ANCESTRAL LETTER, YELLOW WITH AGE—A REFLEX OF THE LIFE OF A CENTURY AND A HALF AGO—THE FIRST NANTUCKET TEA SOCIABLE—HOW A MODEST PURITAN MAIDEN BREWED THE FIRST OF THE BEVERAGE EVER USED IN NANTUCKET AND CAPTURED HER FUTURE HUSBAND AT THE SAME TIME.

Published by Request.

The ancestral letter read at the dinner at the residence of E. D. Starbuck, in Saratoga Springs, New Years day, says the Daily Saratogian, is such a charming reflex of the life of nearly a century and a half ago, that the publication of the epistle at this time will, it is believed, be of interest to many readers. The full text of the letter follows:

The First Nantucket Tea Sociable

MY OWN DEAR MOTHER:

It seems a very, very long time since you and my honored father and my ever beloved brothers and sisters started for your new home. But I suppose you have not at this writing reached your destination, and I think of you every day and all day long as marching and marching, following the lonely trail, through the interminable forests, and sometimes I am tempted to repine in that my father thought it best to remove to that faraway settlement. But my grandfather tells me that the entertaining of that sentiment would be unworthy of the daughter of a pioneer, and since it was thought best for me to remain behind for a season, I must improve my time to the best advantage. This I try to do with cheerfulness, and aunt Content is so kind as to say that I am of service to her in her household duties, and in spinning and weaving.

Peradventure my letter shall be a puzzle to you, I hasten to say that I indite a paragraph or two at a time upon leisure, and whenever anything comes into my mind that I desire you to know, I straightway go to my uncle's desk and set it down. I do this, dear mother, that you may share in my pleasurable thoughts and may know of my daily life, also that my brothers and sisters may, in a measure, partake of my enjoyment. The principal news I have now to tell is my cousin Nathaniel Starbuck, Jr., has returned to Boston from his late long voyage to China, and is now hourly looked for here. There are divers preparations being made for his welcoming. My grandfather walks restlessly up and down the yard with his stout stick, peering anxiously up the roadway by which our traveller must come. Uncle Nathaniel says with pride, "The boy will have many stories to tell." Aunt Content flits about the house with a smile on her face and anon tears in her eyes, concocting the favorite dishes of which her son used to be fond; while dear old grandmother knits and knits, because, she says, "Than'el never yet wore any stockings but of my make, and I must have a supply for him to take on his next voyage." I, even I, am to have a new blue gown, made from aunt's last web, which is the finest and softest piece of flannel ever made on the island.

My cousin has come. He is tall and lithe, with handsome hair and eyes, but his complexion is bronzed by ocean winds and eastern suns. He says it seems to him like a fairy tale that I was the same little dumpling of a cousin that he used to toss in the air when he was last at home. He is much grieved to find you all gone and is planning a hunting expedition whose objective point shall be your far-away settlement. The neighbors all congregated around our kitchen fire to hear his wonderful stories and adventures, which he was relating all day long and far into the night. For all he has travelled, almost over the whole world, he is as pleased as a little boy to be at home on the dear old Nantucket plantation again.

We are all as happy as we can be—with our divided hearts. We all have a frequent thought and wish for our wanderers, and grandfather remembers you each morning and evening at the throne of grace. * * * *

My cousin has brought a great many curiosities and presents for us all; one is a silken creamy shawl for me, woven and embroidered with beautiful flowers. Another, is a gown of foamy Canton crape, as white as snow, and they are so pretty I am sure I shall never dare to wear them. Grandma says they shall be kept for my wedding, but aunt Esther says it is not seemly for such thoughts to be put into a maiden's head. Yet aunt Content gave me, the other day, a whole piece of linen from the fall bleach, "to be kept," said she, "for a day of need." At all events my foreign finery is packed away in foreign gums and spices in a foreign box, and is not likely to turn any silly maiden's brain further at present. * * * *

Cousin has returned to Boston, and yesterday he sent by a trusty messenger another sea chest. In it a large box of tea, the first that was ever on the island; real Chinese tea, which Nat. himself procured in China. It is of a greenish color, with little shriveled leaves, and when eaten dry has a pleasant spicy taste. Perhaps when I have opportunity to send this letter I can enclose a sample quantity that you may see what it is like. He also sent by the same hand a letter, saying when he returns to Nantucket the owner of the ship in which he voyaged, Captain Morris, will come with him from Boston to pay us a visit.

We are again making master preparations for visitors, and if you will believe it, the large parlor, which has not been used since aunt Mehitable's wedding is to be open. The floor has been newly waxed and polished, and we have spread down here and there beautiful mats and rugs which cousin Nat. brought from foreign parts. With the many curious and handsome things which are hung on the walls and spread on the table and mantlepiece, and the huge fire of logs, which the sharp weather now renders necessary, in the chimney, you have no true conception how finely the room appears. When I was admiring it this morning aunt Esther rebuked me gravely, saying: "The bright things of this world are of short duration." But dear, gentle grandma observed, with a smile, that it was "natural and right for the young to admire beauty," at which aunt Esther seemed displeased. I sometimes think she dislikes me because I am young, but that cannot be, yet I cannot quite understand how, being my own, sweet mother's sister, she can be so unlike her. * * * * *

We have just had tidings that cousin Nat. and his friend, Capt. Morris, intend to arrive here on the 31st of December. Uncle Nathaniel says he will have a tea party and invite Lieutenant Marcey's family, and uncle Edward Starbuck's family, and a few others, to meet our distinguished guests and to "sit the old year out and the new year in." * * We cooked a bountiful dinner and all our guests came. I wore my new blue gown, with some lace that grandma gave me, in the neck, and my own dear mother's gold necklace. I tied back my curls, that cousin Nat. will not allow me to braid, with a blue ribbon which he bought in London. Aunt Esther said men dislike to see girls look so brave, but grandma kissed me, calling me a "bonnie blue bell."

Aunt Content has been much pestered in her mind because she knew not how to cook and serve the tea, and after our neighbors had assembled, she confided to them her perplexity. They all gathered about the tea chest, smelling and tasting the fragrant herb. Mrs. Lieutenant Marcy said she had heard it ought to be well cooked to be palatable, and aunt Edward Starbuck said a lady in Boston, who drank tea, told her it needed a good quantity for a steeping, which was the reason it was so expensive. So aunt Content hung the bright five-gallon bell metal kettle on the crane, and putting a two-quart bowlful of tea in it with plenty of water, swung it over the fire. Aunt Esther and Lydia Ann Marcey stayed in the kitchen to keep it boiling. While I was laying the table I heard Lydia Ann say, "I have heard that when tea is drank it gives a brilliancy to the eyes and a youthful freshness to the complexion. I am fearful thy sister-in-law failed to put in a sufficient quantity of the leaves." So aunt Esther put another bowlful of tea into the bell-metal kettle.

When the tea had boiled about an hour, my cousin and Capt. Morris arrived. The tea, which had boiled down to about a gallon, was poured into grandma's large silver tankard and carried to the table, and each guest was provided with one of her silver porringers, also with cream and lumps of sugar.

The Captain talked to me before dinner, and I told him, before I knew that I was getting confidential, how you were all off in the wilds. He said enterprise was what the new country needed, and that it was not best to have Nantucket peopled entirely with Starbucks—that I was one of the old stock, it was plain to be seen, if my name was Wentworth, and he looked pleasantly around the circle of Starbucks. I suppose I do resemble them all. I saw aunt Esther looking at me so sharply that I remembered she had often told me that it was not seemly for me to talk with men, and presently became discreetly silent. But when dinner was announced, the Captain took me out and made me sit by him. After grandpa had asked a blessing on the food, aunt Content said to her son and his friend, "I have made a dish of tea for you, but am fearful that I have not prepared it as it hath need and would like to have your own opinion." Whereupon my cousin and the Captain looked and sniffed at the tea and my cousin made answer, "As my loved mother desires my opinion, I must needs tell her that a spoonful of this beverage, which she has with such hospitable intent prepared for us, would nearly kill any one of us here at this table." The Captain then said laughingly, that aunt could keep the decoction for a dye to color woolens. He further said he would, if she so desired, instruct her how to draw the tea himself. "And this young lady," he continued, turning to me, "Shall make the first dish of the beverage used in Nantucket." Dinner being over, but they all remained at the table except Captain Morris and myself (for aunt Content bade me to assist him as he should direct,) we searched for a suitable vessel wherein to draw the tea. At last I saw Uncle Nathaniel's large grey stone pitcher, into which our guest instructed me to put as much of the tea as I could hold between my thumb and forefinger for each person, and an additional pinch for the pitcher. Then he told me to pour upon it boiling water sufficient for us all, and set the pitcher on the coals and let it remain until it came to a gentle boil. The tea was then poured into the tankard which aunt Content had made ready, and the Captain carried it to the table for me and helped me to pour it into the porringers for the guests. He was so kind as to say it was the best dish of tea he ever drank. We had a wholesome dinner and an enjoyable one withal. Cousin Nat. told stories and sang songs, in which latter recreation Captain Morris joined, and the happy New Year greetings took the place of good byes when our neighbors left for their respective homes. My cousin's friend still lingers for the shooting, and there is not much spinning or weaving done, it takes so much time for the cooking and the eating, and the visiting. He is very agreeable, and calls grandfather the "Miles Standish of Nantucket." I heard him tell Uncle Nathaniel that we had good blood, and that ever since he first became acquainted with cousin Nat. he had conceived a great admiration for the Nathaniel Starbucks, and he said something about a wife. Perhaps he remains here so long on aunt Esther's account, but, dear me, she is so prim (I write with all respect, dear mother) and he is such a jovial gentleman, I do not understand how such a union could be harmonious. If he has regard for her, it must be on account of the Starbuck blood. * * * *

Oh, my mother, how can I tell you? It is not for love of aunt Esther that Captain Morris remains, but me, your own little daughter; and all the Starbucks, indeed, saving aunt Esther, who declares with quiet wrath that I ought to be put back into pinafores, have given their consent that I shall be married and sail away with my husband in my husband's ship, to foreign ports, to see for myself all the beautiful and wonderful things of which I have heard so much of late. But I will not give my consent until I have that of my father's and mother's first, so there is a company being made up to go with my cousin Nathaniel and the Captain through the winter snows to your far-away home.

And so after all it will be this new friend of whom I have written so much, who will take this long letter to you. I am sure, dear mother, that you, who know my heart so well, will not think it unseemly for me to believe that the Lord will guide your heart and that of my father to feel kindly disposed toward this gentleman, for indeed he is of good repute, and is so kind as to be very fond of me, and I feel that if I have your consent, and that of my honored father, together with your blessing, I shall be very happy and take an honest pride in being his honored wife. The Captain declares, laughingly, that I am sending him off on a quest, like a knight of old, to prove his love. I cannot help thinking it strange, his wanting to marry me, and when I said so one day, he replied, gravely, that it was all on account of the tea, which got into his head. And indeed it may be so, for I was flighty and hardly shut my eyes to sleep at all the night after partaking of it, and even dear grandmother says she would not answer for the consequences of what she might be led to do were she to make use of it every day.

I send along with other small articles a quantity of this famous tea, and a bit of the white crape that I shall, if so it seemeth best in the judgment of my honored father and dear mother, wear in good time as a wedding gown.

The household all join me in sending loving greeting to you all.

I remain now and ever your dutiful and affectionate daughter,

RUTH STARBUCK WENTWORTH.

MR. BRYAN AS COUNSEL.

MAINTAINED IN THE SUPREME COURT THE RIGHT OF A STATE TO FIX MAXIMUM FREIGHT CHARGES.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—The Supreme Court room and the corridors without were crowded to-day with spectators, attracted by the appearance of Hon. W. J. Bryan as counsel. The case on hearing involved the constitutionality of a law of the State of Nebraska, enacted April 12, 1893, entitled "An act to regulate railroads, to classify freights, to fix reasonable maximum rate to be charged for the transportation of freights," etc. Several railroad companies were arrayed against the State board of transportation, the Union Pacific at their head, with James C. Carter as chief counsel.

It was the contention of the railroads that the purpose of the Legislature was not to fix the maximum rates to prevent extortion, but to compel the roads to carry goods upon such terms as the farmers of Nebraska could afford to pay. The case was appealed by the State board of transportation from the United States Circuit Court for the District of Nebraska, and Mr. Bryan was associated with the attorney-general of the State as counsel.

Mr. Bryan, in beginning his remarks, said that it was unfortunate there was no established rule by which the court was to determine what were reasonable rates. It must be presumed, however, that a Legislature, in fixing what it held reasonable rates, acted in good faith. Mr. Carter had held that there were three kinds of rates—reasonable, not reasonable and unreasonable—leaving a space in which motive could act, but Mr. Bryan contended that there were but two kinds of rates—reasonable and unreasonable—and that a court, in passing upon rates, could not consider the motives of a railroad; a company which erred must suffer the the consequences.

RAILROADS ARE MONOPOLIES.

"A railroad is," he said, "to a certain extent a monopoly, and the people cannot depend on the laws of competition to protect them from the exactions of a monopoly." In deciding what were reasonable rates, he argued, a court must not base them on the original cost of a road or on its stocks and bonds, but on its present value. Farmers and storekeepers whose property fell in value could not charge higher rates, not having a monopoly, not being able to water stocks and bonds.

When he came to discuss the rights of corporations Mr. Bryan became somewhat oratorical. He said: "If a few corporations can secure a monopoly and not be governed by the same rules as others, the people are the victims of those monopolies. The rights of citizens to reasonable rates is as sacred as those of railroads to reasonable profits. The court cannot assume that individuals would raise up in their midst a fictitious individual, a corporate personage, and endow it with rights higher than those of the Creator's.

Mr. Bryan argued that the courts should not protect stock and bondholders in attempts to secure profits on fictitious capitalization. The stockholder and bondholder were presumed to invest with their eyes open; if they made a mistake it was no duty of a court to protect them from the consequences of that error. The States were legislating to prevent fictitious capitalization, but if courts upheld a right to profits on fictitious capitalization they encouraged it and nullified the policy of the States. If the courts held that corporations must take their chances like individuals in business, they would become interested in and work for those things which would tend to promote the general welfare. If there be some who can exempt themselves from general conditions, there is a temptation to them to endeavor to perpetuate those conditions."

In conclusion he declared that the people who gave value to a road by using it were as much entitled to consideration as those who contributed to build it, else there was no equality for citizens before the courts.

THE ROAD LAWS.

HON. FRANCIS COLE WRITES ON THE SUBJECT, AND OFFERS OBJECTIONS TO ANY CHANGE IN THE PRESENT LAW.

To the Editors of the Compiler.

I wish to give my views on all stringent and extravagant road laws. I claim I have a faint idea of what our roads were 50 years ago, and what they are now, as it fell to my lot over half a century ago to take charge of an old horse team. Being an orphan boy of 16 years and having no trade I entered into partnership with my brothers, George and John, at the home place in Buchanan Valley, and from that time onward I have been engaged in farming, teaming and lumbering. I wagoned from the Chesepeake Bay to the Ohio River, through parts of Maryland and Pennsylvania and I know from my own experience that our public roads are far better now than they were 50 years ago. At that time we had few bridges across our main streams and township bridges were almost unknown. Now we have bridges over our main streams and almost every spring branch has a culvert.

All this has been done under our old Road Law, with moderate taxes, but which is quite enough for the farmer to bear. I believe and would not be afraid to state positively that 90 per cent. of our farmers are satisfied with our old road law and want no other in these trying and hard times. It is not the farmers who are dissatisfied with our roads, but it is the merchants in the cities who send out their army of drummers the drummers themselves, the bicycle riders and the sporting men and so forth that are asking for better roads at the already over-taxed farmer's expense.

The friends of those road bills are trying to make it appear that all the money spent on our roads for the last hundred years has been of very little benefit to them. They say—make stone pikes and they will be of very little expense to keep up afterwards, when once made. I want to ask my farmer friends who have hauled over old pikes for the past fifty years if they think those arguments will hold good? Gentlemen, that road was never built that does not take and require constant repair, as one layer of finely broken stone will wear away and disappear in a short time and the expense of keeping our pikes in repair is so great that the toll for travel over them will scarcely keep them in repair.

We often hear the friends of those expensive road bills refer to the fine roads in France and Germany and other foreign countries, but they should remember that those countries were settled centuries before steam power was even dreamed of, when those mighty monarchs had their roads built to suit their own pleasure, regardless of cost, in order that their armies could move at railroad speed in time of war. Besides roads could be built in those countries much cheaper than they can here for one man will receive as much per day here as three or four will there and I will venture to say that when once the United States has been settled as long as those countries, our roads will bear comparison. They should not forget that those countries were in a high state of cultivation long, long before Christopher Columbus set foot on board the Santa Maria, to plough the high rolling waves of an unknown sea and before that grand and noble man set foot on American soil when our country was but a vast wilderness from the Atlantic to the Pacific. When taking all this into consideration how can they compare our roads and highways with theirs? If our Government wishes to build them we will say—go ahead, but we do not think it fair and just to put all the burden on us. 'Tis sad to think that those who are urging these road bills imagine that we farmers can and should bear all the burdens that can be heaped upon us, especially now when products bring and sell for next to nothing.

Should these times continue much longer and should some stringent road bill pass (which I hope and pray will not occur) the time is not far distant when farmers will not be able to pay their taxes and maintain their families. One judgment after another will be placed upon their farms and the expensive roads that they will be compelled to build up will be the means of forcing many an honest and hard working farmer to the wall, especially the tenant farmers. Our farms and homes would soon fall into the hands of "money kings," and the fine roads that we had built would be our loss and their gain, as we would have neither horse nor cart with which to use the roads.

In conclusion I have only to say that so long as our friends of the cities and towns, who are urging these laws, are unwilling to cross the city and borough limits and assist us in making this kind of roads, so long will we farmers be compelled to battle against them.

FRANCIS COLE.

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR.

Some girls seem to think that when they walk along the street all the men ought to wear blinkers, like horses.

A woman can never understand why her husband has to work so much harder than other men to get along when he is so much smarter than they are.

When the devil met Eve in the garden the day she ate the apple he probably began by saying: "What a handsome husband you've got!"

When you meet a man of a shy, retiring disposition you may be pretty sure he used to recite pieces at all the church entertainments when he was little.

When a girl picks a thread off your lapel she always looks sideways and tilts her head back.

If women were angels they would always be worried for fear the men would muss their feathers all up.

The only really happy animal is a goat. He can eat anything.

As soon as a man gets through fixing the furnace he has to begin to take up the carpets.

When a girl decides that she has dyspepsia she limits her dinner to a plate of lobster salad and a big cucumber pickle.

When a woman gets to thinking how it would be if her husband had married some other woman she always feels so sorry for him.

When a woman cries at a pathetic child scene in a play it is a sign that she made the children go to bed early so she could go and see it.

A girl can never decide which she enjoys most—taking a baby out walking or having a good cry.—N. Y. Press.

FLOOD SUFFERERS.

PRESIDENT M'KINLEY'S URGENT APPEAL IN THEIR BEHALF—TO SUPPLEMENT THE WORK OF STATE AUTHORITIES.

The President under date of April 7th sent the following message to the Senate and House of Representatives:

"Information which has recently come to me from the Government of Arkansas, Mississippi and Louisiana and from prominent citizens of these States and Tennessee, warrants the conclusion that widespread distress, involving the destruction of a large amount of property and loss of human life, has resulted from the floods which have submerged that section of the country. These are stated, on reliable authority, to be the most destructive floods that have ever devastated the Mississippi Valley, the water being higher than the highest stage it has reached before.

"From Marion, Ark., north of Memphis, to Greenville, Miss., a distance of more than 250 miles by river, it is reported there are now at least fifty towns and villages under water, and a territory extending from 100 miles north of Memphis to 200 miles south and from five to forty miles wide is submerged. Hundreds of thousands of acres of cultivated soil, with growing crops, are included in the submerged territory. In this section alone there are from 50,000 to 60,000 people, whose property has been destroyed and whose business has been suspended. Growing crops have been ruined, thousands of cattle have been drowned and the inhabitants of certain areas threatened with starvation. As a great majority of the sufferers are small farmers, they have thus been left entirely destitute and will be unprepared for work even after the floods have subsided.

"The entire Mississippi Valley in Arkansas is flooded and communications with many points cut off. In Mississippi a like condition exists. The levees in Louisiana, with a single exception, have held, but the water is rising and the situation there is reported as being extremely critical.

"Under such circumstances the citizens of these States look for the co-operation and support of the national government in relieving the pressing cases of destitution for food, clothing and shelter, which are beyond the reach of local efforts. The authorities who have communicated with the Executive recognize that their first and most energetic duty is to provide as far as possible the means of caring for their own citizens, but nearly all of them agree in the opinion that, after their resources have been exhausted, a sum aggregating at least $150,000 and possibly $200,000 will be required for immediate use.

"Precedents are not wanting that in such emergencies as this Congress has taken prompt, generous and intelligent action, involving the expenditure of considerable sums of money, with satisfactory results. In 1874, $190,000 was appropriated, and in 1882 $350,000 was also appropriated for relief in the same direction, besides large sums in other years.

"The citizens' relief committee, of Memphis, which has taken prompt action, has already cared for from 6,000 to 7,000 refugees from the flooded districts and they are still arriving in that city in large numbers daily. Supplies and provisions have been sent to the various points in Arkansas and Mississippi by this committee, but the utmost that can be done by these efforts is to partly relieve the most acute cases of suffering. No action has yet been taken for the relief of the great majority of the inhabitants living in the interior, whose condition has already been described.

"Under these conditions and having exerted themselves to the fullest extent, the local authorities have reluctantly confessed their inability to further cope with this distressing situation unaided by relief from the government. It has, therefore, seemed to me that the representatives of the people should be promptly informed of the nature and extent of the suffering and needs of these stricken people, and I have communicated these facts in the hope and belief that the legislative branch of the government will promptly reinforce the work of the local authorities in the States named. WILLIAM McKINLEY."

The Fate That Befell the Girl Who Carelessly Lost Her Diary.

"Diary?" fairly shrieked the pretty young lady with flashing eyes as she walked down the avenue with a companion. "Diary? Don't you ever dare say diary to me again. What do you know about it, Kate?"

"Nothing; only that you told me that you had commenced keeping a diary, as usual, and I supposed you had dropped it at the end of a month, as usual. I didn't mean to throw you into hysterics."

"Kate, don't you ever breathe a word of it, but I've lost that diary; dropped it somewhere on the street. And the plaguey thing has all my dearest secrets in it. I wrote just what I thought, too. It just sets me crazy. There it is in black and white that Lillian looks like a fright, and Hattie is turning green from jealously, that Charley is just too sweet to live and that Fred hasn't sense enough to talk more than three minutes without he rehearses in advance."

"Why don't you advertise and offer a reward?"

"Indeed, I won't. I never want to see the thing again. If any one returns it I shall declare that it's a forgery from beginning to end. I'll never own up the longest day I live."

"What did you say about me, Edith?"

"Oh, I don't just remember; but something nice. You can depend on that, for you're my very dearest friend."

"I can help your memory. You wrote that I was the most inquisitive little minx in the city, and that I thought it my special business to look after other people's business. Here's your diary. You left it at our house, and Tommy spelled out your estimate of me before I knew what he was doing. Good afternoon."

Then they looked at each other, both began to cry, fell into each other's arms, and in five minutes were criticising a mutual friend.—Detroit Free Press.

A BEAUTIFUL EASTER CUSTOM.

THE ADVENT OF RESURRECTION DAY HAILED WITH MELODY AND PRAISE.

"No more divinely appropriate expression of the Moravians' love of music and their appreciation of its inspirating power is to be found than in their sublime annunciation of the Resurrection day," writes Clifford Howard, descriptive of "A Moravian Easter Dawn," in the April Ladies' Home Journal. "Through the quiet streets [of Bethlehem, Pennsylvania] in the early morn, the trombonists walk from place to place, pouring forth their grand, inspiring anthem that arouses the slumbering town to the welcome knowledge of the advent of this glorious day. Now here, now there, now everywhere the lights appear within the windows of the dwellings, and the streets are thronged with people, young and old, wending their way from all directions toward the church, and greeting one another with loving salutations of the day. The Easter service is begun within the church and is continued there until the brightening sky announces the advent of of the dawn. Then, in slow procession, subdued and reverent, the people pass without the doors, and headed by the trombonists, solemnly ascend the winding hill to their beloved and quaint old burying ground.

"Within the closure of this consecrated spot the congregation assembles and stands in a large semi-circle facing the eastern hill in fond anticipation of the emblem of its cherished faith. A little apart stand the ministers, and the trombone choir. Thus assembled, the service of song and responsive readings, begun in the church, is continued. A sense of deep religious awe pervades the gathered throng, as on this cold, gray morning of the early spring they await, in spiritual communion with their departed loved ones, the Resurrection hour. Above the hill the dawning light appears. Then from the voices of the assembled host there bursts a melody of raptured song, a heartfelt hymn of praise and adoration, a spontaneous symphony of joy, that starts in glad expression of triumphant hearts, and mingling with the full, resounding strains of sweet-toned trumpets and resonant trombones, arises with the warbling song of joyous birds in glad hosannas to the splendent sky. For see a radiant light o'erspreads the earth. A wondrous glory hails the new-born day. The sun appears in fulgency sublime—God's symbol of the resurrected life; and earth and Heaven in exulting joy peal forth in glad, antiphonal accord: 'The Lord is risen! Hallelujah, praise the Lord!'"

The following letter, regarding the "Vitalia Remedies," speaks loudly of these wonderful remedies:

July 8th, 1896.

"DEAR FRIEND:—Nearly twenty years ago I became afflicted with an ovarian tumor and after it had made me an invalid for a number of years, I finally got so bad that during 1887 and 1888 I could only make the most gentle movements with the greatest difficulty and extreme pain. In less than a year's experience with your Vitalia medicines I found myself, in 1889, as able to walk as when a girl, blessed with the ability to sleep and an excellent appetite, and—in a word—brought back to renewed life and vigor. It always affords me much delight to advise others troubled as I was to promptly avail themselves of so wonderful an opportunity to be cured."

AMENDED ROAD BILL.

Owing to the presence of a number of members of the Legislature at the meeting of the Farmers' Association, last Saturday, the program as previously arranged was set aside, and a discussion of the Road bill took place. Mr. Philips, of Chester county, after whom the bill as now amended is named, explained its salient features, mentioning especially the changes which have been made.

The most serious objection offered to the bill at the last meeting of the Association had relation to the multiplication of officers, which would be occasioned by the section which reads "It shall be the duty of the board of road supervisors immediately after their organization as a board to divide their township into road districts of not more than twelve miles of road to each district."

As it now stands the last part of this section is cut out of the bill, and the number of miles in each district is not specified, so that by making each district larger the number of officers will be correspondingly diminished.

Under the new bill the qualification that the supervisor must be a "freeholder" is stricken out and "owner of real estate" is inserted.

In the section which says that the supervisors shall fix the rate to be paid per "day," the word day is stricken out and "hour" is inserted.

The following section is stricken out entirely: "Provided That a greater rate than ten mills, but not exceeding twenty mills, may be levied by order of the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace of that county upon the petition of the Board of Supervisors with their unanimous recommendation and upon due cause shown. And provided further that upon every resident male taxable of the age of twenty-one years and upwards the road supervisors of each township shall assess the sum of one dollar in addition to the millage tax above mentioned."

The section providing that one-fourth of the tax shall be paid in cash remains.

These changes being mentioned, the sentiment of the Association seemed to have been somewhat changed from that of a month ago, but no definite action was taken.

HAVING been inquired of several times about the fence law as enunciated by Judge Savidge, of Sunbury, we republish the facts in part: A woman brought suit against a neighbor for damage to her corn by his cattle. Judge Savidge charged that the law formerly required a man to fence against his neighbor's cattle, but now under the statute every man must fence against his own cattle, and this he must do at all hazards, no matter if it takes a fence ten feet high. If one's cattle get out and do damage to his neighbor the owner of the cattle is liable for the damage done unless it can be shown that the cattle were let out by a trespasser, in which case the party damaged would proceed against the wrong-doer.

This seems to be the law in such cases. A man must not allow his cattle to do damage to the property of another under any pretext.

THE OHIO ADMONITION.

The sweeping revolution against the Republicans in Ohio comes like a thunder clap from an unclouded sky. It is the first expression of the country on the new administration, and none can mistake its significance. The leaders of the party in the State, including President McKinley, Senator Foraker, Senator Hanna and Governor Bushnell, have been defeated in their own homes, every one of which gave majorities for McKinley last November.

In Cincinnati, the home of Foraker, and where his rule has been omnipotent for years, the revolution is cyclonic. A Democratic Mayor is elected by 7,500 majority in the face of more than double that majority for McKinley in November. In Canton, the home of McKinley, a Democratic Mayor is also elected by a large majority, and one who was bitterly opposed because of his aggressive hostility to McKinley in the last campaign; and Cleveland, the home of Hanna, that was overwhelmingly Republican in November, has elected the Republican candidate for Mayor by a scratch. To these disasters may be added Springfield, the home of Governor Bushnell, that has been swept into the Democratic column.

It does not lessen the character of the political revolution in Cincinnati when it is remembered that the Democratic ticket represented reform, and that there, as in Philadelphia, the corrupt elements of both parties supported the Republican or Foraker ticket while the better elements of both parties supported the Democratic candidates. This condition shows that the Republican organization, as created by Foraker and made successful for many years, has lost the confidence of the public and provoked rebellion. And had this revolution been confined to one or two localities, however important, it might have been regarded as chiefly or wholly the result of local complications, but it seems to be the sweep of the tempest in all the important political centres of Ohio, and that means vastly more than the accidental political changes caused by local interests.

With all the explanations that may be offered the fact remains, and stands out painfully conspicuous, that Ohio, that gave McKinley nearly 50,000 majority for President only five months ago, has broken away from its McKinley lines and now gives every promise of a Democratic Governor and United States Senator at the fall election.—Phila. Times.

Wheat Prices Fall.

The adverse influences that have dominated the grain markets since the first of the year and more particularly during the past three or four weeks, says a dispatch from Chicago of last Wednesday, struck with heavy force when May wheat dropped 3½ cents and July wheat 3 cents. The former closed at 65½ and the latter at 65⅞. On January 4 May wheat was 85¾ and since then has steadily fallen to the price of 65, nearly 20 cents difference.

In New York there was a fall in wheat prices accompanied by an outpouring of long holdings the like of which has not been seen in many months. May dropped 3⅞ cents, at the lowest point touching 71⅞, which is the record since last September. In addition to liquidation, the market was also influenced by a sharp break in Liverpool cables and fair selling on foreign account.

DR. SCHAEFFER REAPPOINTED.

Dr. Nathan C. Schaeffer, of Lancaster, was last Wednesday reappointed by Governor Hastings as State Superintendent of Public Instruction. Dr. Schaeffer has very successfully managed the affairs of Pennsylvania's public schools since he succeeded D. J. Walker in the office in 1892.

Dr. Schaeffer was first appointed by Governor Pattison, but this year four or five aggressive Republican candidates brought pressure to bear on Governor Hastings to secure the appointment and his only way out of this political snarl seemed to be to heed the countless requests from people of all parties for the retention of the efficient incumbent of the office, and bar politics from the management of the schools. Dr. Schaeffer's nomination was promptly confirmed by the Senate.

DEMOCRATS WIN.

CHICAGO GIVES CARTER HARRISON THE LARGEST DEMOCRATIC MAJORITY EVER GIVEN A MAYOR—IN OTHER PLACES IN THE WEST THE DEMOCRATS ARE GENERALLY VICTORIOUS—OHIO GOES BACK ON THE REPUBLICANS.

The Mayoralty election of Chicago last Tuesday resulted in a decisive victory for the Democratic party, its candidate, Carter Harrison, having more votes than all the other candidates combined.

The Democrats had an excellent organization, their campaign was handled well.

The campaign was fought for the most part on strictly local issues, although the Democrats had a silver plank in their platform.

The plurality for Harrison is the largest ever given a candidate for Mayor.

A number of Democratic Alderman were chosen in districts heretofore reliably Republican.

Carter H. Harrison is the son and namesake of the late Mayor Harrison, who was assassinated during the closing of the World's Fair. He is 37 years old and has never before held a political office. He was educated at Heidelberg and Yale. During the greater part of his business career he has been associated in the real estate business with his brother, Preston Harrison, but was business manager of the Chicago Times during the four years the Harrison family owned that paper.

OHIO'S VOTE.

Although it is claimed by the Republicans, that local issues controlled most of the municipal elections Tuesday, yet the general results throughout Ohio show Democratic gains along the lake shore, the river counties, and in the interior counties. This gives the Democrats control of most of the organizations for the election next November of State officers and members of the Legislature. Governor Bushnell will stand for a second term. Senator Mark A. Hanna is the Republican candidate for Senator. These leaders, as well as ex-Senator Brice, are interested parties and contributed directly and indirectly to the organized efforts of the canvass.

The result of the election is claimed as a victory for John R. McLean for United States Senator next November, when members of the Legislature are to be elected.

MICHIGAN.

Returns indicate that Justice Long of the Supreme Court, is re-elected by upwards of 40,000 plurality. Complete figures in the Detroit election give Maybury, Democrat, 550 majority over Stewart, the Pingree candidate. Of sixty cities in which Mayors were elected the Silver party carried 28 and Republicans 27. In five party lines were not drawn. A decided trend toward the silver forces was visible in many of the elections.

MONTANA.

In Butte, Mont., the Democrats at the local election carried the city, winning on general others by majorities ranging from 500 to 600 against the Republicans and Populists.

NEW YORK.

The town elections in Schenectady county resulted in Democratic victories, with two exceptions. Last fall every town in the county gave Republican pluralities.

WISCONSIN.

Milwaukee, Wis., April, 6.—The election in Milwaukee to-day was for Justice of the Superior and County Courts and for Associate Justice of the Supreme Court. I. E. Mann, a Democrat is re-elected County Judge, George R. Sutherland, a Republican, is elected Superior Judge. The total vote in the city was 9605 against 60,000 in November. There was no opposition to Marshall for the Supreme Bench.

At Waukesha, the Democrats elected H. M. Enos, Mayor, the Republicans taking most of the other officers.

Racine re-elected Mayor Fred Graham (Dem.), the Republicans getting a majority of the Aldermen.

Oskosh, Wis., April 6.—A. B. Ideson, Democrat, was elected Mayor by 500 majority.

Watertown, Wis., April 6.—Edward Racek, Democrat, present incumbent, was elected Mayor by a majority of 162.

The Legislature.

The important revenue measures of the session were introduced in the House last Monday. Chief among them is the direct inheritance tax bill. This measure, which is a new departure for Pennsylvania, will it is estimated, furnish an additional revenue of at least $500,000 annually.

The bill exempts real estate and fixes the rate of taxation on real and personal property at $2 on every $100 clear value. All estates of $5,000 or less are exempted by the act. If the tax is paid within three months after the death of the decedent an abatement of five per cent. is allowed. If the tax is not paid at the end of a year 12 per cent. interest is added, and cases where the estates from litigation or other causes cannot be settled up in a year, a charge of seven per cent. interest will be made.

The bill prohibiting the sale or gift of intoxicating liquors on Memorial day was defeated by a vote of 96 to 70. This measure has been before every legislature the past 12 years and has always failed in the house.

IN THE SENATE.

The Walton bill, providing for the erection of a new State capitol on or near the old site, at a cost of $550,000, was passed finally. When the Hamilton good road bill came up for final passage quite a discussion was precipitated. Mr. Brown, (Westmoreland), said that the bicyclists wanted the bill passed, as did the grangers, but in his opinion the grangers have been misled. "If the farmers knew that this bill increased taxation from 10 to 20 mills," he continued, "they would be against it."

Another important bill which was advanced is that of Senator Coyle, providing for the purchase of school books at 75 per cent. of wholesale prices. This law has been in force in Ohio, where it is said to have produced admirable results. Senator Coyle has figures showing that text books are sold at retail in the Buckeye State for what they are bought by the School Boards in Pennsylvania.

Mr Becker introduced a bill providing for the creation of a Board of Electric Railway Commissioners. The commission is to be appointed by the Governor, and is to be composed of three members, whose salaries shall be $4000 each per annum. The commission shall have supervision over all trolley lines, even to the employing of proper men as motormen. The commission shall also have a secretary, whose salary shall be $2500.

Another lengthy bill was introduced by Senator Thomas, of Philadelphia. It creates a Bureau of Building Inspectors, attached to and under the control of the Department of Public Safety, in cities of the first class.

BILLS PASSED IN THE HOUSE.

In the House a bill to specifically apply the State appropriation for schools to cities of the first-class passed finally without objection. These bills also passed finally:

To prohibit any person from falsely representing himself to be or falsely assuming to act as a detective or any elective or appointive officer within the Commonwealth; enlarging the power of married women in making certain legal instruments without their husbands' consent; requiring fire alarms to be erected in hotels and factories employing more than ten hands; taxing aliens over 21 years $3 a year and making their employers responsible for the payment of the tax; allowing cities of the second class to establish bureaus of plumbing and house drainage; governing caucuses or conventions for the nomination of public officers or election of delegates to nominating conventions; repealing the Greater Pittsburg bill; requiring constables to make returns to court only when they have violations of law to report, except where otherwise provided for by rule of court, authorizing boroughs to make appropriations to establish and maintain free public libraries.

THE TRUE REMEDY.—W. M. Repine, editor Tiskilwa, Ill., Chief, says: "We won't keep house without Dr King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. Experimented with many others, but never got the true remedy until we used Dr King's New Discovery. No other remedy can take its place in our home, as in it we have a certain and sure cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, etc." It is idle to experiment with other remedies, even if they are urged on you as just as good as Dr. King's New Discovery. Watchmen were stationed along the track in order to insure the safety of the trains.

The Emanuel church, sometimes called "Roth's," or "Pigeon Hills" church, in Jackson township, York county, was sold on Saturday, by Sheriff Brodbeck, for $4,500, to John and Peter Stambaugh. Executions had been issued against the place for an amount said to aggregate $6,000. The sale included the handsome church building (which originally cost from $13,000 to $16,000,) the furnishings and organ, as well as upwards of 18 acres of land, on which are a new barn and brick house. There is also a graveyard on the premises.

The angels that bring healthy, happy children into the world are the angels of health and contentment. Children reflect their parents,—particularly the mother. She is responsible for what they are for what they do. She is responsible if they are puny, sick, weak, useless, miserable. It depends on her health. Her health depends on her care of it. If she is strong and healthy in a womanly way, she will have strong, healthy children. She may be sick or well—it is a matter of choice. She can be well if she wants to. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will make her well. It is the only positive, permanent, infallible cure for diseases of the organs distinctly feminine. It purifies, strengthens, invigorates. It promotes the regular performance of all the functions. It fits a woman for the duties and pleasures of wifehood and motherhood. Its most beneficent usefulness is in preparing for the time of parturition. It robs child-birth of pain and danger.

Mrs. W. B. Duncan, of Arlington, Mo., writes: "I have used your 'Favorite Prescription' and am never tired of sounding its praise. When my lady friends complain, I say 'Why don't you take Dr Pierce's Favorite Prescription?' I told an anxious mother, whose daughter (18 years old) had not been right for five months, about the medicine, and after the young lady had taken two-thirds of a bottle of 'Favorite Prescription' she was all right. She had been treated by two of our best doctors.

A neighbor took nearly four bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' before her baby was born. She was the mother of one child, and had two doctors with her before, and was for nearly six weeks in bed, almost helpless. She thought that if it were possible she would do something the next time, and last September was delivered almost painlessly of a fine boy. She thinks Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription did it. The mid-wife who was with her, said she had the easiest time she ever saw any one have and she is an old lady."

Accidents.

David S. Klingel, the shoemaker, who lives opposite the College Laboratory, had a narrow escape from a serious accident on the railroad last Friday. He was walking along the W. M. R. R. tracks, opposite the Reading freight house, when he was struck by the bumper of the 8.43 passenger engine. Luckily he was knocked aside and the only injury he received was a badly bruised elbow. Mr. Klingel is very deaf and did not hear the ringing of the bell or the whistle.

On Saturday a week, whilst he was helping to unload a freight car at the W. M. R. R. freight depot, William H. Wisotzkey met with an unlucky accident. It was at night and as he came out of the car, which was near the edge of the platform, he made a misstep and fell about eleven feet, over a lot of store boxes and into a ditch. When found a few minutes later he was unconscious, with his face covered with blood. We are glad to say that Mr. Wisotzkey is around again and not much the worse for the accident.

The Hand of Death.

Word was received in Lebanon, on last Friday, of the death of Rev. Augustus C. Wedekind, on April 9th, at San Diego, Cal. Dr. Wedekind was 70 years old, and was in the Lutheran ministry a great number of years. He was a Gettysburg student, having graduated with the class of '46.

On Tuesday evening, the 6th, about 8 o'clock, of cramp colic, Samuel Lease died at his residence, Bermudian, Latimore township, aged 46 years, 10 months and 5 days. He leaves a wife, two brothers and two sisters beside other relatives and friends to mourn the loss which is deeply felt. The funeral service was conducted on Saturday morning at 9 o'clock in Bermudian Reformed church by Rev. Spangler, pastor. Interment in the family lot, Bermudian. The funeral was attended by a large concourse of friends.

A Pretty Wedding.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Minnigh, on Baltimore street, was filled with many guests to witness the marriage of their daughter, Miss C. Blanch, to J. Frank Dougherty, last Wednesday. Rev. A. R. Steck, pastor of St. James Lutheran congregation, of which both are members, performed the ceremony at 1.30, to the strains of the wedding march rendered by Misses Eva Danner and Bessie Tipton. The wedding party entered the spacious parlors and proceeded to the center where a beautifully festooned arch was arranged, underneath which the nuptial knot was tied. The parlors were beautifully decorated with palms and ferns. The bride was handsomely attired in white silk with lace and pearl trimmings and carried a bouquet of white roses. The ushers were Rev. R. W. Mottern, of Watsontown, Messrs. Plank, Bender and Flaharty, of Gettysburg, and the best man Mr. Wm. Kitzmiller. The maid of honor was Miss Elsie Eichelberger, of Baltimore, who was attired in white silk and carried pink carnations with pink ribbons. Two little flower girls, Edith Minnigh and Marguerite Weaver, nieces of bride and groom, carried baskets of flowers, preceding bride and groom. After the ceremony and congratulations, the guests proceeded down to the large dining hall where stood a table laden with all the delicacies of the season, of which all partook.

Many handsome presents were received, consisting of furniture, silverware, china and linen. Their many friends wish them success in future life.

They left on the 4 15 train for Philadelphia, Clayton, N. J., and Atlantic City, where they will spend some time.

The Road Bill.

Discussed by the Farmers' Association—Representatives Philips, Nesbit, Tipton and Bittinger Present.

The regular monthly meeting of the Farmers' Association was held in the Court-room last Saturday afternoon at 1 30 o'clock. Mr. Forney being absent the meeting was presided over by the vice-president, Wm. Wible. After the reading and adoption of the minutes, the secretary, H. D. Bream, read a letter from the State Board of Agriculture, concerning local institutes and the election of a delegate to the State Board. Mr. Bream was elected to fill that office.

The Association then discussed the question of holding the local institute at Gettysburg. Dr. Goldsborough thought that the farmers did not to come to Gettysburg and when they did come they generally had business to attend to. The town people do not attend, he said, and we have larger meetings when the institute is held at other places.

P. L. Houck thought the place of holding should be left in the hands of the Executive Committee; that it should be placed wherever the farmers will attend and where it will do the most good.

It was moved and carried that the letter from Hon. Francis Cole be read by the secretary. The letter is the same as is published on our first page.

Prof. P. D. Hankey moved that we discuss the Philip's bill, and asked Mr. Philip, the Representative from Chester county, to speak.

In substance, Mr. Philips said. I am a farmer, pure and simple. The farmers in my section were strong enough to elect some one to represent them. The road bill which bears my name did not originate with myself, but I was asked by Mr. Hamilton to present it. As we as farmers do not want expensive roads. In this climate we can never have a permanent road. In Europe, where they have such famous roads, they don't have down-pours which wash out the roads.

This is not a road bill, but a supervisor's bill. We want to get a dollar's worth for a dollar. We only want little stretches of road from town out to the suburbs made permanent, because when you want to go to Carlisle or Shippensburg you take the train. The time has come when if we as farmers don't take the road business into our hands it will be taken from us. The cities elect 68 members to the house and the mining districts 20. The Senate is a small factor. There is hardly a farmer among them. The Senate is a bold over body.

This bill simply provides a method of making roads. A continuous board is better than a variety of supervisors. They can hire a road master one day and discharge him the next, if he won't do his work properly. They will only get $5 a year; the hands on the road are paid by the hour.

As it is now a supervisor dare not say anything to a politician who will not work while on the road. The best men and the heaviest tax-payers should be elected to the board of supervisors. Every man in the township is the supervisor's boss.

In conclusion Mr. Philips said that this bill would lessen the taxes, that in the amended bill there was no limit to the amount of road to be worked on by one road-master, and that the word "free holder" was changed to "land owner."

At the conclusion of Mr. Philips speech Hon. Theo. McAllister arose and said that he thought the Association made a great mistake one month ago, when it voted against the road bill. He believed that the Hamilton bill as amended would be a benefit to farmers. "Our roads have been improved, but how much better they were when we had good supervisors."

This caused Dr. Goldsborough to say "We did not make a mistake. We didn't know then what the dose was. Every one wants good roads, especially the country doctors, but not at the depreciation of real estate."

Mr. Nesbit, Representative, of Northumberland county, said that he approved of the bill. "This road law has in it the germ of reform and we shall see in a few years that it was a step in advance."

Mr. Tipton said that the bicycle tax bill was crude. He said that the League of American Wheelmen opposed it because the tax was not laid on all vehicles. It is probable, he said, that a law will be passed taxing all vehicles, but arranged in such a way that no extra burden be laid on the real estate owner.

Edward A. Weaver, Esq., said that he never heard Representatives talk so creditably. He then moved that the Association ask Messrs. Tipton and Bittinger to vote for the bill, but no action was considered necessary, as it seems that our Representatives are favorable to the bill as now amended. The association adjourned at 4.30 o'clock.

A Fatal Accident.

The Mutilated Body of Simon Fleshman, a Resident of This Place, Found on the Farm of P. L. Houck, a Mile East of Town.

Last Saturday afternoon Simon Fleshman, who was employed by Philip L. Houck to blast rock, was killed by an explosion of dynamite, and his body was found by John E. Osborne, another employee of Mr. Houck's, about two o'clock in the afternoon. It seems that Fleshman began his work in a field near the dwelling house about nine o'clock in the morning and made a number of blasts, but as no explosions were heard for quite a time after about 12 o'clock Mr. Osborne walked out to the field, thinking that something might have happened, and found the body. From the appearances it is thought that the cartridge struck the man full in the face, and death ensued immediately. It is also supposed that Fleshman started the fuse and, as it did not go off, returned to re-light it, when the explosion took place. The body was terribly mutilated.

Mr. Osborne immediately came to town to notify the District Attorney, who did not think an inquest necessary. The remains were therefore brought to the residence of the deceased on East Middle street, from which the funeral took place on Sunday afternoon, the burial being in St. Francis Xavier Cemetery. Mr. Fleshman was a resident of this place for but a short time, having moved here from Littlestown. He leaves a widow, formerly Mrs. George Ream, three step-daughters and two small sons. His age was about 27 years.

WANAMAKER MEN DEFEATED.

The York County Republican Committee held the largest-attended meeting in its history last Thursday. The large turnout was owing to the question of indorsing R. Hathaway Shindel, cashier of the York City Bank, for State Treasurer, and Fish Commissioner James A. Dale, president of the York County National Bank, who was defeated for national delegate last year by Mr. Shindel, led the forces against the latter. Mr. Dale and his friends favor ex-Postmaster John Wanamaker for State Treasurer.

Mr. Shindel was indorsed by an overwhelming majority. The Shindel men again won by calling an early convention for April 27. The Wanamaker men wanted July 27.

Town Council Meeting.

At the regular meeting of Town Council last Tuesday evening all the members were present except President Garvin, in whose stead Mr. Thomas, of the 2d ward, was chosen President, pro tem. In the absence of the Secretary, J. L. Kendlehart, Esq. was appointed to attend to the duties of that office.

A communication from R. D. Armor, stating that the water in his pasture field, near the W. M. R. R., is contaminated by the refuse from the sewer which ends nearby, was read. On motion of Mr. Troxel, the Highway Committee was instructed to give consideration to Mr. Armor's complaint, and remedy the condition as far as possible.

A communication from the School Board was read, as follows:

M. A. Garvin, Esq.,
Prest. Town Council.

Dear Sir:

The School Board requests me to bring to your notice the condition of the street running along the north side of the ground occupied by the new school house.

They have no suggestions to offer as to what would be best to do, but it might be well to appoint a committee to confer with a committee of the School Board, at which conference an arrangement agreeable to both parties could doubtless be made

Very Respect. Yours,
Chas. M. McCurdy,
Pres. School Board.

Mr. Stock was of the opinion that there is no street along the north side of the new School Building; it being a turnpike.

Mr. Flaharty inquired as to whether or not the Council is in control of the pike. Mr. Troxel said that no agreement had been arrived at between the Council and the Turnpike Company. Mr. Thomas asked whether there is not an ordinance relating to this matter. Mr. Troxel replied that a satisfactory agreement had never been made.

Messrs. Lightner and Thomas thought that the committee requested should be appointed. Mr. Ertter thought that the Council ought not assume the responsibility of keeping in repair the School Board's property. Mr. Stock said that the railroad crossing, being higher than the road, an underground gutter or sewer would be necessary to carry the water. Mr. Troxel then moved that the communication be tabled, which motion carried.

Under Reports of Committees Mr. Troxel reported that some spouts on the Borough's building being in need of paint, the Property Committee had the spouts, the belfry roof and the hose tower roof repainted at a cost of $30.

Mr. Lightner reported that one of the fire plugs had been broken. The Highway Committee was instructed to have the broken parts repaired. Mr. Lightner also reported an offer to quarry stone for the Borough at 20 cents per perch, which offer the Committee was instructed to accept on motion of Mr. Ertter.

Mr. Buehler, of Harrisburg, a representative of the Pennsylvania Telephone Co., was granted permission to address the Council. He desired to ask the Council to permit his Company to erect poles and string wires and make other necessary arrangements in the Borough, for the purpose of doing a telephone business, local and long distance. He stated that the line would extend as far north as Boston and west to St. Louis, and that the rates for use of the line would correspond to the railroad mileage at a cent a mile for a conversation of five minutes or less.

Mr. Troxel said that he was opposed to any foreign company displacing our local company, especially as all of the money invested in the Adams Co. Telephone Co., except $250, is that by our local people. Mr. Stock was of the same opinion and moved that a consideration of Mr. Buehler's request be deferred until the next meeting.

The assignment of the license of H. Amos Delap, expiring in June, to J. W. Swales was approved.

The police reported that some of the electric lights had not been burning according to the contract, and Mr. Troxel moved that a corresponding reduction be made in the bill when presented for payment; carried.

Burgess McCammon reported a number of complaints of the condition of the streets, due to failure of the Water Company to grade and level the filling made when the new pipes were laid. He said that he had notified the Water Company to give attention to this matter, but nothing had as yet been done. Mr. Ertter moved that the Water Company be given ten days in which to abate the nuisance, and if it be not done in that time the Highway Committee shall have it done and deduct cost when water bill is paid; motion carried.

Burgess McCammon also called the attention of the Council to the ordinance of March, 1894, fixing the salary of the Burgess at $100, and spoke of the rate resolution making it $25. The Borough Attorney suggested that the ordinance of 1894 would be in full force until it would be repealed by another ordinance. Mr. Flaharty then moved that the action revoking the '94 ordinance be recinded, and Mr. Stock moved that a new ordinance making the salary $50 be prepared by the Ordinance Committee; carried.

On motion of Mr. Troxel, W. H. Mayer was elected to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of L. P. Mayer.

The bond of the treasurer, C. A. Trostle, with S. M. Bushman and D. M. Minter as sureties, in the sum of $12,000, was approved.

On motion of Mr. Thomas the Tax Collector and the Treasurer are instructed to keep separate the general and the special taxes, the latter to be used in the payment of bonds and interest only.

G. W. WEAVER & SON.

——Spring Fever——

is warming your blood and shaping your thoughts—we caught it some weeks ago. You will see its effect all over our store, your store. It has broken out in bright new Silks, Dainty Spring Dress Goods, in feather-weight Grenadines, Organdies, Lappets and various spring like fabrics. No department is free from its influence.

Don't mind if some stores are not ready for you, we are leaders and that is why we have been ready and selling Spring Dress Fabrics for a month or more.

First among women's pleasures, relatively of course, is gratification in dress. We considered this point and with it we considered another point, that it is a pleasure for women to buy cheap. It is a pleasure for us to sell cheap. We find it to our profit, which accounts for what follows, here, which is only a little part of the story.

G. W. WEAVER & SON.

12½ cents—15 or 20 patterns of newest checks and overshot goods, elegant imitations of high grade novelties, the appearance of 25 and 50 cts. goods.

G. W. WEAVER & SON.

25 cents—10 styles of all wool, yard wide Cheviot and Scotch effects, in the right color mixtures. You'd guess them to be double the price. 10 pcs. of French all wool Serges, all colors, including black. We believe these goods to be far superior to same price goods sold elsewhere.

G. W. WEAVER & SON.

40 cts. & 50 " —This line embraces a choice of 45 different weaves in novelties, &c —the handsome new check effects in the various colors predominating, also Scotch weaves that cannot be told from high priced goods—Vigareaux, Jacquards, Tufts, Etta mines and plain goods. Many of these handsome goods will be found, priced from 10 to 25 cents higher elsewhere. We know whereof we speak.

G. W. WEAVER & SON.

75 cts. & $1.00 —A great variety of the richest goods at price, mostly in dress lengths, Silk and Wool changeable effects—changeable Ottamons, Etamines, etc. Also all the staple plain fabrics. We are anxious to have samples compared as to price with the large city stores.

G. W. WEAVER & SON.

——Black Goods——

The indications are that there will be a considerable advance in first hands of all imported fabrics very soon, in fact, has taken place in part, which, of course, strikes black dress goods with more force perhaps than any other line. We have, however, bought largely of these goods, not as speculators, but with your interests in view, and we propose to adhere strictly to the policy of sharing whatever advantages we gain in our buying with you, and while we can mention but a few items here, you can judge the stock by these.

G. W. WEAVER & SON.

39 cents—46 inch French Serge, rightly finished and dyed, correctly woven and worth a half dollar per yard. The quantity is dwindling and there will be no more at this price.

G. W. WEAVER & SON.

50 cents - Special at this price is a fine twill Henrietta, a beautiful lustre and right weight for Spring, both in blue and jet black. These goods are worth 60 cents, and cannot be sold for less when we have to buy again. A fair quantity on hand.

G. W. WEAVER & SON.

64 cents & 69 " —Two weaves of 50 inches wide French Serge, of the celebrated Gold Medal brand. They are both of equal value to the price, and we are willing to have them compared with goods at 75 cents and $1 00 elsewhere. They are guaranteed.

G. W. WEAVER & SON.

75 cents—Sicillian Mohair—our judgment gives these goods the palm for beauty and all around serviceableness. This is a specially fortunate purchase as the goods have a $1.00 value.

G. W. WEAVER & SON.

45c. 50c. 69c. 75c. $1.00. —Black Brocades and Jacquards and Novelty Weaves in Mohairs and Worsted. We yield to no store in the country in the variety, newness of patterns and value, we show of these goods. They are the up-to-date proper goods for Gowns and separate Skirts.

G. W. WEAVER & SON.

75c. & $1 00 —Gold Medal Satin Brocade Ettarnines, the newest patterns and most correct Black Gowning to be had this season, can be used over black or any under scheme of color that is desirable.

G. W. WEAVER & SON.

60c. $1.00 $1.75 —Grenadines in Silk and Silk and Mohair Fashion has decreed these goods to be the proper high class materials for use for fashionable attire to those who insist on black. Some rich brocade effects here.

G. W. WEAVER & SON.

——What About Silks——

They are here in a selection of shimmering shadings that will appeal to your desires in an irresistable way. Not the ordinary kind, but beauties of a new class, and best of it for much less than you have been used to think of these goods. Take black Satin Duchess for instance, 24 inches wide, at 79 cents, Black Faille, 22 inches wide, 69 cents, changeable Taffetas, the good kind at 75 cents, changeable Surahs, the 75 cent kind at 50 and so on.

G. W. WEAVER & SON.

——Dress Trimmings——

We haven't the space to talk about them here, but we have the goods—the correct kind—no fancy prices either—Dress Linings too—every right thing that you would want to do right dressmaking with, and you cannot do right dressmaking without proper accessories.

G. W. WEAVER & SON.

Not a word about Wash Fabrics—we have them now but will tell you about them here later on—must mention just one thing because they won't be here long—they will be put on sale on date of this paper.

12 pieces fine Sheer Lawns in white ground with colored checks and stripes and some all black (dragon black at that) same goods you have always paid 12½ cents for, lot goes at 6¼.

LACES, VEILINGS AND GLOVES.

Special Easter Stock.

Life on the Farm.

A couple of writers seem to be interesting themselves writing on what people do on the farm, and one of them says the following in the American Agriculturist, which will doubtless be entertaining to the people who do live on the farm:

With due respect to the talent and ability of the author of the article entitled "A Typical Day on the Farm," which appeared in a recent number, this criticism is written. Either the author is writing of farming as it was in a period long past, of farming in a land other than our own, or he is not thoroughly conversant with his subject, and writes from the standpoint of what he has heard and read.

The talented author intimates, for instance, that on these cold winter mornings, the farmer's wife has a habit of getting up a little before 4 o'clock. She at once goes to the fireplace uncovers the remains of the previous night's fire, and throws on fresh fuel, filling the kitchen with warmth and light, to be presently enjoyed by the farmer himself and a small regiment of hired men, who make a great ado muffling themselves up before they go out into the night to do the morning chores.

Now, the fact is, the farmer's wife of to-day doesn't do any such thing. She and her husband sleep in a snug bedroom off the carpeted sitting-room, wherein is situated, in all well-regulated families, a great square base-burner, almost covered with nickel and full to the brim of chestnut coal. The farmer's wife in the sort of family described by Mr. Sweet doesn't get up first these cold mornings. The morning light is beginning to steal into the room when she opens her eyes. "Sam!" she says, gently nudging her sleeping partner, "Sam, the clock has struck six."

"Y-es," responds Sam's sleepy voice, and presently he rolls out of bed, steps out into the generous light of the base-burner and dresses himself at leisure. There isn't an open fireplace within fifty miles of him, but there is a good big range out in the kitchen, and in this Sam soon has a roaring wood fire. By this time the hired man, if there chance to be one, and perhaps one or two of the older boys are up, and the party go out into the daylight to do the morning chores.

The farmer's wife is up before the men leave the house. She calls her eldest daughter to help her, and together they prepare the breakfast. They don't fry eggs, as Mr. Sweet says they do, for eggs fetch too good a price in winter, besides the cellar and smoke-house are full of meats. Neither do they "brown" any "johnny cakes." They leave the latter for dinner or supper. Sausage is an almost universal winter breakfast meat and buckwheat pancakes form a fine companion dish to sausage; and as our writer says, they do have "coffee."

It is about seven o'clock when the men return from the barn. Everybody in the house is up, for no second breakfast is prepared, and all sit down to the meal together. In some families a great stack of pancakes is cooked and there is then no necessity of the mother and daughter sitting down and eating "hurriedly and in silence." In other families, mother and daughter take turns in making cakes that they may come hot to the table; then it may leave the cook a little behind with her meal.

I am obliged to say that the farmer's morning meal is not a silent one. There is just as much conversation and pleasantry at breakfast as at any meal in the day.

If the men are going to the woods that day, the chances are forty-nine to fifty in favor of their coming home to dinner. The modern farm is not so large that they can't get back, and again, scarcely a man likes a frozen dinner eaten in the woods from a tin pail. Moreover, men don't go to the woods as much as they used to; they haven't the woods to go to, and when they do, it is only the leisurely employment of a few days to get up the year's fuel.

The older boys don't "put on their overcoats" and adjourn from the breakfast table to the woodpile; they would be too warm for the violent exercise such work involves, and again they don't pay much attention to those matters in these days, the buzz saw attends to the woodpile for them. But the boys do go out and help finish up the chores; they do feed the chickens and water the horses and clean the stables, and perhaps one of them does steal away to attend to his snares; but just why he should take an old gun along is hard to say.

"As soon as the dishes are washed and the kitchen swept, the big old-fashioned churn is brought in and filled with rich, yellow cream," says Mr. Sweet. Too bad to destroy the vivid picture of domestic economy, but facts are so stubborn. If any churn should be filled with cream, there would be too much in it and butter would never be the result of churning. Not one out of ten farmers now has an old-fashioned dash churn. Modern churns revolve or swing, and when the process of churning consumes "an hour or more," there is something wrong; if the cream is right butter will be sure to come inside of thirty minutes.

Our author goes along swimmingly after this break. The big boys and their sister do go to school, their little brothers and sisters do watch their departure from the windows, but we may bank on the men who are at work in the woods returning to dinner, and the farmer's wife must prepare that meal and wash up her dishes before she sits down to that afternoon mending.

Well, according to "A Typical Day on the Farm," the boys and the girl return from school in due season. The girl slips on an apron and helps prepare supper, and the boys go out to do the chores, they don't do all of them, however, according to that article; they allow the men to work in the woods until pitch dark and finish the chores on their return. Phsaw! I wouldn't give a fig for a lot of farmers' boys who couldn't or wouldn't do all the chores before dark. But the boys are not obliged to do all the chores. About sundown the old team draws up to one side of the pyramidical woodpile; the young team pulls its load up on the other side, sleigh tongue and neck yoke fall to the ground as the horses are unhitched, and every chore at the barn is done, while it is yet light enough to see.

Of course the farmer's supper is a bountiful meal, but if pies, cakes, and a great "injy puddin'" are its chief features, then I have never fallen in with farmers who have "typical suppers" for my farmer's suppers almost always consist of such fare as bread and butter, cold meat, potatoes, pickles, cheese, canned fruit or stewed apples, one kind of cake, and, yes, "tea."

Now we come to a part of the article at hand which proves beyond a doubt that the author has in mind the farmer of the present day, for he speaks of one of the farm hands telling stories of "when he was a cowboy." The cowboy is a creation of this generation. As to

A GREAT deal of nonsense has been written—and believed, about blood purifiers. What purifies the blood? .. .. ..

THE KIDNEYS PURIFY THE BLOOD AND THEY ALONE.

If diseased, however, they cannot, and the blood continually becomes more impure. Every drop of blood in the body goes through the kidneys, the sewers of the system, every three minutes, night and day, while life endures.

Warner's Safe Cure

puts the kidneys in perfect health, and nature does the rest.

The heavy, dragged out feeling, the bilious attacks, headaches, nervous unrest, fickle appetite, all caused by poisoned blood, will disappear when the kidneys properly perform their functions.

There is no doubt about this. Thousands have so testified. The theory is right, the cure is right and health follows as a natural sequence.

Be self-convinced through personal proof.

THE TIMES aims to have the largest circulation by deserving it, and claims that it is unsurpassed in all the essentials of a great metropolitan newspaper. Specimen copies of any edition will be sent free to any one sending their address.

TERMS Daily, $3.00 per annum; $1.00 for four months; 30 cents per month; delivered by carriers for 6 cents per week. A SINGLE STANDARD only is possible, whether as a test of excellence in journalism, or for the measurement of quantities, time or values; and after a career of nearly twenty years of uninterrupted growth is justified in claiming that the standard first established by its founders is the one true test of A Perfect Newspaper.

To publish all the news promptly and succinctly and in the most readable form, without elision or partisan bias; to discuss its significance with frankness, to keep an open eye for public abuses, to give besides a complete record of current thought, fancies and discoveries in all departments of human activity in its daily editions of from 10 to 14 pages, and to provide the whole for its patrons at the nominal price of one cent—that was from the outset, and will continue to be the aim of "THE RECORD."

THE PIONEER one cent morning newspaper in the United States, "The Record" still leads where others follow.

Witness its unrivaled average daily circulation exceeding 160,000 copies, and an average exceeding 120,000 copies for its Sunday editions, while imitations of its plan of publication in every important city of the country testify to the truth of the assertion that in the quantity and quality of its contents, and in the price at which it is sold "The Record" has established the standard by which excellence in journalism must be measured.

The daily edition of "The Record" will be sent by mail to any address for $3.00 per year or 25 cents per month.

The daily and Sunday editions together, which will give its readers the best and freshest information of all that is going on in the world every day in the year including holidays, will be sent for $4.00 a year or 35 cents per month.

the manner in which a farmer's family passes the evening, Mr. Sweet is partly right: but he shouldn't have said that more wood is thrown on the fire and the blaze goes roaring up the chimney, for nothing of the sort is done. After the supper dishes are washed and put away, the fire in the kitchen stove is allowed to go out. The whole family assemble around the coal stove in the sitting-room and pass their evening there. There may be nuts and apples and stories and pleasant conversation, but it is more than likely that the boys may go out to skate awhile, taking their sister with them, or the latter may remain at home and entertain her father and mother with a few pieces of vocal or instrumental music.

They retire early; almost all farmers do. The mother is last to retire, but she don't go into the kitchen to cover up the fire, she goes there to set pancakes for to-morrow's breakfast.

Destroying Our Commerce.

The merchant marine of the United States gets a new blow from its professed friends in the form of prohibitive duties on many articles the carriage of which gives employment to such ships as we have. Lyon Bros. & Co., of Baltimore, call attention to the fact that in the shipping season, from May 1 to December 31, 1896, some twenty-three American ships brought to the Atlantic coast from Hong Kong 43,000 tons of straw mattings, earning about $192,000. Large shipments were brought also from Kobe and Nagasaki, Japan, the entire business from China and Japan amounting to 800,000 rolls, or some 95,000 tons. Three vessels engaged in the trade are owned here in Baltimore. The Dingley bill proposes to destroy most of this traffic by practically prohibitive duties on mattings. As is well known, the China and Japan trade is now about the only thing left for the old guard of American deep-water ships. They look to straw mattings for at least two-thirds of their homeward cargo, some ships loading nothing else. The proposed Dingley rates, according to Lyon Bros., "would sacrifice this fleet to the greed of American manufacturers of cheap carpets." This, too, in the face of the professions of the merchant marine plank of the Republican platform.

Cheap mattings have been much used by the poor, coming in free of duty under both the McKinley and the Wilson tariffs Now this class is burdened with the extreme rate of 8 cents per yard to force the people to buy worthless American substitutes made of cotton and cow's hair. The tax is both useless and unjust.—Balto. Sun.

The Cuban Revolution.

Two years of desperate conflicts—ruinous for Spain, which is to-day on the verge of bankruptcy—have not weakened the efforts of the insurgent patriots. In the United States, better than anywhere else, one could follow day by day the varying fortune of this titanic duel; the landing of the two Maceo brothers, survivors of a family of heroes, both of whom were to find, a few months apart, the most glorious of deaths; the advent in the campaign of Maximo Gomez, the veteran of the ten years' insurrection; the death of Marti, fallen in ambuscade before seeing the triumph of his labor; the revolt deepening, spreading from the eastern to the western department, toward Pinar del Rio, and threatening Havana; the recall of Martinez Campos, powerless to conquer; his replacement by General Weyler, a wild beast with a human countenance; and finally, the dissolution, greater each day, of the prestige and credit of monarchial Spain. This is the state of things at present. The entire people of the United States have espoused the cause of those who are struggling with so much valor and abnegation to break so odious a yoke. Will the Federal Government show itself less generous than the great nation in the name of which it speaks? Will the American eagle allow the Spanish vulture to settle upon its prey?—M Henri Rochefort, in the April Forum.

COLORING EASTER EGGS.

Easter eggs can be colored with aniline dye. It should be diluted to the proper shade and the eggs boiled in it. Green, the color of hope and resurrection, is particularly appropriate, but a variety is pleasing—red, pink, blue, pale yellow and purple. Eggs can be boiled hard, and painted in water-colors with a single spring flower, as a primrose, or a butterfly, also a symbol of the resurrection. They should be arranged in nests of moss. German children believe that the Easter eggs are laid by hares, so representations of this little animal are often placed on them, or near them. Painted butterflies, mounted on wire, can be made to hover over the nest.—April Ladies' Home Journal.

HOW HE GOT THE JOB.

"I wonder how he got such a good job," he said.

"Why, don't you know?" she returned. "When he applied for it he told them that his marriage the following week depended upon his getting something to do at once."

"And they gave it to him?"

"They did."

"How ready people are to help a man to get into trouble, aren't they?"

She didn't answer. She didn't feel that she could answer without exhibiting a temper that she usually tried to keep in concealment.—Chicago Post.

"THIS butter seems strong," said the young husband, at their first breakfast at home.

"Yes," she answered: "I talked to the market man about that, and he said it was economy in the end never to buy weak butter. He said that even though this might cost a little more, people could get along with less of it, and it would last longer."—Washington Star.

"Do I look like a man who would try to cheat your confounded corporation out of five cents?" asked the man who was angry because he was asked if he had paid his fare; and he looked like a boiled lobster when the conductor surveyed him calmly and replied:

"Well, yes, I must say I think you do."—Somerville Journal.

OUT OF THE ORDINARY.

THE OLD MAN GAVE IN WHEN HE SAW THAT HIS DAUGHTER MEANT BUSINESS.

The older man was the father of the woman in the case; the younger was the man who wanted to marry her.

The younger was the average young man seeking a wife—no better, no worse.

Why the father did not want him as his son-in-law must be answered by other fathers who have felt as this one did. Perhaps there is no answer.

So when the young man came, the older was prepared to meet him as one who was by no means first in his estimation. The younger man was aware of the older's feeling, but quite disregarded it.

Perhaps it is the only successful method of treatment under the circumstances.

That the young man was conceited goes without saying, but he was not an isolated example, as any one may know who knows young men.

"Well?" greeted the father, when the suitor appeared in his presence.

"I fancy you know, sir, why I am here," responded the caller. "As you may be aware, it is to ask your consent to the marriage of your daughter to me."

"Well?" said the father, with an inflection which did not bode well.

"I understand that you do not look favorably upon me as the husband of your daughter, and I assure you I am not here on my own behalf, but upon hers."

"Sir?" exclaimed the father, half rising.

"On hers, sir, I said," the amazing young man went on. "She loves me, and to lose me would break her heart. I love her, but not as she loves me. You know one must love more strongly than the other, and it is her misfortune to be the stronger in this instance. Neither of us is to blame. If I had loved her as she loves me, my love would have made me afraid to risk my hopes by asking your consent. As it is, I come to you in confidence, believing that you love your daughter so much better than you do me that you will sacrifice your own feelings and wishes in the matter."

By this time the father was indignant and violent.

"You are the most conceited ass I ever heard talk," he said, "and if you are not out of here in two minutes you will be kicked out."

"All of which may be as you say," replied the suitor; "but I am telling you the plain truth. If you will kindly refer the matter to your daughter, you will greatly oblige her."

As the father rose from his chair the young man walked out.

The next day he called on the young man.

"I have not changed my opinion concerning you since yesterday," he said, rather pleasantly than otherwise, "and I am sorry for the girl, but I withdraw my opposition. I suppose she's that way because she's a woman."

"I wouldn't be surprised," replied the young man. "Good morning. Much obliged."

And so they were married, and lived happily, too, to the end of their days—he never regretting, for she was rich and beautiful, and she always happy, for the man she loved best in all the world was her husband.—Washington Star.

HER UNHAPPY INFIRMITY.

HE TRIED TO BE SYMPATHETIC TO THE LADY, BUT SHE WOULD NOT HAVE IT.

He was an angular man with gray ear whiskers. He gave up his seat in the crowded car with an alacrity that spoke well for the cheerfulness of his disposition. The lady who took the proffered seat was stout and haughty. She slipped into the vacant place without a word.

The angular man looked at her thoughtfully. Then he stooped over and said:

"I had an uncle, ma'am, that had just that same affliction."

"Sir!" said the stout lady, with an insulted toss of the head.

"Yes," continued the angular man, "he couldn't pronounce any word beginning with 'th' to save his blessed neck. That's right. He'd stutter and stammer, an' the best he could do would be to give it the sound of 's.' It was a dreadful affliction. His oldest son's name was Theophilus, but he always called him 'Sophilus.' Had it long, ma'am?"

The stout lady was dark red from vexation.

"You are insulting," she snorted.

"Well, I don't wonder you hate to hear anybody refer to it," said the angular man with great cheerfulness. "But I couldnt help noticing it when you took my seat and wasn't able to say 'thank you.' I wouldn't have minded it in the least if you'd said 'sank you'—oh, do you get off here? Good day, ma'am, never mind the thanks."

And the stout lady flounced down the street to take the next car.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.
